

MILWAUKEE'S ASHES
A DREARY WASTELOSS ESTIMATED AT ABOUT
$300,000.Warehouses, Docks and Railroad
Property Swept Away—Only One Person Reported Killed—Good Work Done by the Firemen Subduing Flames.

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 23.—A smoking mass of debris is all that remains of property valued at $300,000 which yesterday fed a short-lived but ravenous fire in the lower Fourth ward. The hardest work alone saved the city from what at one time threatened to equal in fierceness that which devastated the Third ward the night of October 23, 1892.

Starting, it is supposed, from a lighted cigar stump carelessly thrown under the Union Warehouse, on the Menominee River dock, about 500 feet west of the West Water street bridge, the fire spread, under the influence of a wind blowing at the rate of thirty-five miles an hour, with a rapidity that caused a panic to prevail in the business portion of the city. During the hour that it swept on unchecked it licked up five warehouses, thirty-five freight cars, thousands of barrels of sugar and flour, sacks of salt without end, and merchandise and fruit of every description used in the stores of Milwaukee.

One person, an eight-year-old child, was killed, but otherwise there were no accidents, although the firemen suffered a great deal from smoke and cinders which filled their eyes, mouths and nostrils until some of them could hardly see, hear or breathe.

In the St. Paul yards rails were twisted as though they had been put into a vise and bent, one of them which lay for a while under a pile of burning flour and sugar being bent nearly double. Persons who saw the smoke rolling over the city and heard the roar of the flames thought that no power on earth could prevent a great conflagration, and many families prepared to drive out of the city with such things as they could carry by team.

The stronghold of the fire where it burned hottest and destroyed the most property was the line of warehouse extending along the Menominee River from West Water street north to Sixth street, a distance of 1,500 feet. At 1 o'clock Officer Leaman saw smoke coming up from under the dock at the Union Line warehouse, 500 feet west of the office. He ran straight to the alarm box half a block from him, but before he had finished with it the flames were shooting up through the planking as though a powder magazine had taken fire. When the fire engines arrived on the scene it was to rush into a seething furnace, fanned by the strong south wind, which just about this time reached its highest velocity of the day, thirty-six miles an hour, though it did not long continue at this rate. Both fire tugs, the Cataract and the James Foley, attacked the fire from the Menominee River, throwing altogether fourteen streams upon the warehouses, but could not save it. In the meantime Chief Foley, at the head of the land forces, had massed his nineteen engines against another branch of the fire, which was running its course through the St. Paul freight yard and devouring whole cars at every gulp. When the fire started there were about 500 cars in the yard, and twenty-five switch engines, all that could be gotten, were set to work pulling them to places of safety.

Thirty-six cars were burned. These cars belonged both to the St. Paul and the Wisconsin Central roads; the latter was the heaviest loser, on account of its cars being farthest from the exit to the yards.

In the meantime the Wisconsin Central warehouse, a structure about 300 feet long, just north of the Union Line office, had caught fire, and its flame united with that from the cars on one side and the doomed warehouses on the other.

There were now practically three distinct fires within a radius of about three blocks, the smoke and flame from which rolled over from the adjoining buildings, running along their roofs and sides with seeming vindictiveness. While the fire was at its height, a body of flame from it was literally picked up on a sudden flurry of wind and lifted over the long brick warehouse of the St. Paul company, on the south side of Fowler street. It spread over and descended upon the mass of factories, small stores and dwellings in the vicinity of Fowler, Second, and Third streets, and for a while it looked as if that whole neighborhood, practically a tinder box, would be swept out. A blaze shot out of the roof of the Kalamazoo Knitting works, and consternation reigned among its 200 employees. This building was saved.

The heaviest loss will be on freight. The records of nearly all the transportation companies have been more or less burned, and it will require a great deal of checking and figuring until the exact amount of freight burned can be obtained. It is believed by some that the loss will not exceed $200,000, while others are inclined to base the figure at $300,000.

Balfour's Views on Finance.

London, Aug. 23.—The First Lord of the Treasury, A. J. Balfour, replying in the House of Commons to Sir John Leng, Liberal, member for Dundee, who asked whether he would advise the Government to invite an international monetary conference, said: "I am, and always have been in favor of an international agreement, but I have not the right to pledge my colleagues, and I do not believe that an international agreement would result from an international conference."

DECLARE FOR SILVER.

Nebraska Democrats in Session at Omaha
Pass Resolutions.

Omaha, Neb., Aug. 23.—At the convention of Nebraska Democrats favorable to silver, held here yesterday, Edgar Howard was made permanent chairman without opposition and the following nominations were made by acclamation: Supreme court judge, E. J. Phelps; regents of state university, Dr. H. S. Blackburne and J. J. Kettle.

After speeches of minor importance, bubbling over with silver sentiment and opposition to the A. P. A., the convention reported the following resolutions on the money question: "We believe the restoration of the money of the constitution is now the paramount issue before the country, and insist that all parties shall plainly state their respective positions upon the question, in order that the voters may intelligently express their preference."

"We therefore declare ourselves in favor of the immediate restoration of the free and unlimited coinage of gold and silver at the present legal ratio of 16 to 1, as such coinage existed prior to 1873, without waiting for the aid or consent of any other nation, such gold and silver coin to be a full legal tender for all debts, public and private." This resolution was also passed: "The Democracy of Nebraska approves and commends the declaration of President Cleveland in the past in condemning the pernicious activity of incumbents of federal offices under the government in attempting to control the policy and nominations of their parties, and we hereby recommend the renewal of the policy of his first administration in that regard." At night the Hon. W. J. Bryan and other Nebraska Democrats addressed the convention on financial issues.

JOE PATCHEN IS KING.

John R. Gentry Defeated at Washington
Park, Chicago.

Chicago, Aug. 23.—Yesterday afternoon at Washington Park upward of 12,000 people saw the greatest harness horse race of this or any other age. They saw the great turf king, John R. Gentry and Joe Patchen pace a mile without a skip in 2:05½. They saw them do this side by side for the greater part of the distance around the track. They saw what few people have ever seen before, two horses going half a mile in one minute. They also saw Joe Patchen beat his proud rival in three straight heats, the first by three-quarters of a length, the second by a neck, and the third by a good two lengths. It was the greatest horse race anyone on the grounds ever saw, and the oldest horsemen grew enthusiastic with discussing the many brilliant features of the race. Time:

	1/4	1/2	3/4	1 Mile.
First heat...	0:32½	1:02½	1:32½	2:05½
Second heat...	0:33½	1:05½	1:37	2:07½

Indians Are Uneasy.

Washington, Aug. 23.—General Copinger informed the War Department that he has ordered two companies of the Eighth Infantry to go into camp at the Fort Hall Indian reservation. This action is taken in response to representation by the Interior Department that the Indians have been very restive since their return to the reservation after the Jackson's Hole affair, and have been represented as disposed to make trouble unless steps were immediately taken to punish the white men who killed some of their number.

Horrible Fate of a Teamster.

Franklin, Pa., Aug. 23.—At noon yesterday a wagon load of 1,600 pounds of giant powder exploded at Harper & Co.'s magazine, a mile south of the city limits, blowing the driver, Claude Ward, to atoms, as well as the wagon and the two horses which were hitched to it. Ward had hauled the explosive from Kane City.

Grand Rapids, Aug. 23.—At 11 o'clock last night Detective George W. Powers of the city police force was shot dead while he was attempting to arrest one of two men on board the Grand Rapids & Indiana north-bound train at Detroit, Grand Haven and Milwaukee junction, north of the city, on suspicion of being one of the Chicago & West Michigan train robbers. The fellow drew a revolver and fired, hitting the officer, and then with his companion jumped off the train and disappeared in the darkness. Powers was hit in the right cheek and the bullet lodged in his brain, while his face was filled with burnt powder. He died about midnight. No arrests have been made, but with daylight the officers who surround the district hope to have better success. One of the fugitives lost his hat, which the police found.

WOULD NOT STOP THE TRAIN.

Fusillade of Bullets Had No Terror for This Engineer.

Galveston, Tex., Aug. 23.—An unsuccessful effort was made to hold up the south-bound St. Louis limited of the Gulf, Colorado & Santa Fe at Heidenheimer, 200 miles north of here, at 2:38 yesterday morning. It failed through the nerve and presence of mind of Engineer Franks. Heidenheimer was the passing point of the north and south-bound express. The train had taken siding to allow the north-bound train to pass. As the train pulled out from the siding and was waiting for the brakeman to set the switch, two masked men suddenly appeared on the side of the engine cab and began to shoot and shouted to the engineer and fireman to get off. Instead of obeying, the engineer threw the throttle wide open and sped southward. The robbers fired a fusillade as the train passed by, but no one was hurt. The robbers were medium-sized and had their faces so concealed they could not be recognized. A posse has gone in pursuit.

On the Track of the Bandits.

Allegan, Mich., Aug. 23.—Close watch kept upon all roads and trains by the sheriff, deputies and detectives has revealed none of the Chicago & West Michigan train robbers.

Yesterday Detective Johnson sent a telegram from Hartford to Sheriff Stratton that four suspicious men got on the train at Hamilton for Allegan and to arrest them. The sheriff did not get the telegram until an hour after the train arrived. The officers will watch the woods and road and the sheriff says that if he doesn't get these men soon he will send to Indiana for bloodhounds. He is confident that they are in the woods around here and with the hounds he can run them down. Guards are out on all roads and if they are in the woods it is only a matter of a few days before they are captured.

MOB BUYS ROPE FOR A FIEND

Indianapolis Crowd in Earnest—Villan
Attempts to Assault a Girl

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 23.—The screams of a little girl in the alley in the rear of Oliver street, West Indianapolis, yesterday afternoon attracted the attention of residents on the street and going to the scene the child was found badly bruised and crying and a man dressed in a pair of jeans pants, a blue shirt and without a coat was seen running from the scene.

Only the women on the street went to the child, and before the officers could be notified the man had disappeared. The child, who is but 4 years of age, said that the man "tried to hurt" her, and bruises were found on her arm and shoulder. When the news of the assault spread over the suburb many of the men in the shops quit work and started to search for the miscreant. Passing a store twenty feet of rope was purchased by a man in the crowd, and the search was then prosecuted in the railroad yards and in all the freight cars standing on the track, but at dark no one had been found answering to the stranger's description.

The attempted assault occurred in the same alley where little Ida Gebhardt was murdered, and the affair has created great excitement.

BUTCHER WOUNDED SOLDIERS.

Savage Work of Spanish Guerrillas in Cuba.

Santiago de Cuba, Aug. 23.—News has been received here to the effect that the Spanish guerrilla, Garrido, last week raided the hospitals of the eastern department and barbarously butchered seventy-four wounded Cuban soldiers under treatment therein, together with several doctors who were attending them.

When General Jose Maceo was apprised of this atrocity, he immediately dispatched several detachments of insurgents to seek Garrido out and capture him alive or dead. Captain Rafael Gonzales came across him on the outskirts of Santiago, but as the guerrilla's force was overwhelmingly superior to his own, he kept watch on the enemy's movements and sent to Maceo for re-inforcements. Maceo himself came to his support with a strong force. Garrido's troop was surrounded, and after a short encounter, during which thirty-four Spaniards were killed, he surrendered. Garrido was seized and sentenced to death by Maceo and shot without more ado.

Italy claims damages for outrages upon Italian subjects in Brazil perpetrated, as alleged, during the revolution.

ARE LEGGED MAN DID CRAZY THINGS

"SHIRT DANCE" MAY SUPERSEDE THE SKIRT DANCE.

Residents Along Highland Avenue Startled by the Odd Action, of a Mysterious Person Who Lashed a Jaded Horse Around H. S. Woodruff's Track.

"Git up there!" yelled a man who was plying a long whalebone whip over the back of a flying horse as the animal tore down Highland avenue at 4 o'clock this morning. Shriill yells rent the air as the horse clattered over the road and the buggy careered from side to side. Residents who heard the racket imagined that Fort Atkinson was again on fire and that the department was enroute for that town overland, so they poked their heads out of the windows. They saw a man clad only in a short shirt, plying the whip like mad while the horse lengthened his stride at every blow. The man was leaning forward in the buggy and driving like mad while his abbreviated garments fluttered in the breeze. The corner of Highland and Oak Hill avenue was turned on two wheels and the horse was urged ahead with renewed energy. The driver began to pull up when the Buckleton farm was reached and turned his flying steed into Mr. Woodruff's half mile track. With whip and voice he urged the jaded animal around the track half a dozen times and then came to a standstill.

Danced a shirt Dance.

Almost before the wheels ceased to turn, the odd looking teamster leaped to the ground. He had no shoes or stockings on and his white shirt wasn't much for day light work. With a yell that would do credit to an Indian, he rushed for the open space inside the track and began to dance. At each jump he yelled and his shirt mingled with his flowing locks, but he danced on. People who had hurried after him on foot stood gaping at the scene, but the shirt dance went gaily on. The sharp stubble seemed to hurt the dancer but after a bit he suddenly jumped into his buggy and lashed the horse into a run, back over the route from whence he had just came. The mystified residents returned to their couches, when he left, and thought the scene was over. Hardly had they closed their eyes again, however, ere the same clattering, shrieking and whipping was re-enacted, and the same driver, the same horse and the same buggy went dashing up the street. The horse was well nigh fagged by this time, and the whalebone whip had to be wound about his body to make him run, but the pace was kept up. When the half mile track was reached, the man again jumped from the buggy.

Ran a Fast Mile.

This time the righteous man was merciful to his beast and did the running himself. Throwing his head back, the mysterious individual sprinted around the track at top speed. He still had on the short shirt, but had augmented his costume, by donning a pair of shoes in order that he might do better work. When his run was finished, he again bolted into the open space and resumed his war dance. This time, his feet being protected, he was enabled to execute the steps without inconvenience, and he danced until his foot slipped and he fell. After a minute he jumped into the buggy and lashing the horse into a keen run, flew down the street.

"I could not tell who the man was," said one of the men who saw the performance. "He acted like a crazy man, and was either insane or suffering from the 'jim jams.' I was sorry for the horse as the poor animal seemed to be very much jaded. The man wore almost no clothing and why he went back after his shoes and where he got them is something I cannot tell."

In the mean time the "shirt dance" seems to be a novel entertainment, and may eventually entirely supersede the "skirt dance."

GREENMAN DEALS OUT MAIL.

Appointed Postmaster at Milton Junction To Succeed J. H. Owen.

R. J. Greenman was yesterday appointed postmaster at Milton Junction, in place of R. J. Owen. Mr. Greenman is father-in-law of Frank R. Morris who moved from the Junction over to Milton and took the postoffice there. The Morris "pull" seems to have lost none of its seductive quality, but as that quality was acquired by diligent party service nobody has any reason to complain.

HERE'S A FEW HORSE NOTES

ABNET, the three year old trotter owned by Henry Cheesman of Clinton, defeated a good field of 2:25 trotters of that age at Chicago yesterday, going in 2:14. Abnet is one of the best young horses on the turf.

JOE PATCHIN's defeat of John R. Gentry was a popular victory in Janesville, most of the horse lovers being on Patchin's side of the fence.

OLD Thalburg, who has trotted here several times in the eighteen years he has been on the turf, won the 2:20 class purse at Spring Valley, Ill., yesterday.

JANESVILLE horsemen are a good deal interested in Fido's attempt to beat John R. Gentry's record of 2:03 at Washington park yesterday.

McClure's Magazine for September.

Of the manuscripts left unpublished by Robert Louis Stevenson at his death (not many, by the way), the first to reach the public is a collection of very original "Fables" in the September number of McClure's Magazine. One of them is a conversation between John Silver and "Cap'n" Smollet, of "Treasure Island," which is as delicious in its way as anything those worthies do or say in "Treasure Island" itself. In the same number Anthony Hope relates another adventure of the ever-charming Princess Osra, an encounter in the forests of Zeuda with an attractive and most courteous highwayman.

We will offer the best bargains you ever saw in Janesville, in our 39 cent dress goods sale Friday and Saturday. Bort, Bailey & Co.

TRAIN FAIRLY FLEW TO SAVE A TOWN

JANESVILLE FIREMEN TOOK A FAST RIDE.

Run to Ft. Atkinson at the Rate of a Mile a Minute in Response to an Appeal for Aid—Engine and Hose Wagon Were Not Needed After All Loss $1000.

Janesville firemen rode on a special train that flew along at the rate of a mile a minute last night.

"Our town is burning up!" was the message that came to Chief Spencer from Fort Atkinson, half an hour before the train started and orders were at once given to get the big Button engine and the hose wagon ready to go. Five minutes later the apparatus was on its way to the depot and a puffing switch engine was pushing the flat cars up to the platform. When the engine was rolled into the car, its seven thousand pounds weight forced a wheel through the flooring, and Chief Spencer at once said that a new car would have to be secured. Henry Crane, the superintendent of bridges soon found one and fifteen minutes later the special was ready to go. The engine was on the first car, the hose wagon on the second, while a caboose was attached to carry the firemen. Dozens of others clambered onto the flat cars, and when the train pulled out, the cars and apparatus were black with people.

Train in Good Hands.

The order was given to make fast time and they did it. The engine was number 503 and Engineer Al. Talmage, as good a man as ever opened a throttle, was in the cab, while Conductor John Feeley was in charge. When the special skimmed over the bridge, people said it was going at the rate of thirty miles an hour and the hoarse whistles for the road crossings kept growing fainter and fainter. The train left Janesville at exactly 5:35 o'clock and at 5:45 Milton Junction was reached. As the train hummed into that village an immense crowd waved it welcome.

"Don't slow up!" called a dozen voices, while half a hundred hands waved them toward the burning village. Engineer Talmage didn't slow up; that wasn't what he was there for. Instead, he opened the throttle another notch, and the special howled on toward Koshkonong station. Another crowd was waiting at that depot. The Janesville special was greeted with a rousing cheer as it tore through, and the watches registered 5:52 o'clock. Eight seconds later the train slowed up in the burning village, and the flagman who met them at the first tangle of switches, said that the blaze was under control.

Made Fast Miles.

Alderman Winslow, who was on the special, says that he timed some miles in fifty-eight seconds and the whole run, including the slowing up at crossings, etc., was made in twenty-five minutes, the distance being twenty miles. The Janesville apparatus was not taken from the car, the Fort Atkinson and Jefferson departments having gotten the blaze under control. Chief Engineer Spencer was in charge, the other firemen being Captain W. E. Evenson of the Fire Police, Captain Patrick Dugan of hose company, No. 2, Engineer Gus Bauman and Pipemen Henry Kiene, George Schaller, Thomas Abbott and E. J. McCue.

The fire was not so bad as was at first reported. It started in the dry kiln of the Northwestern Manufacturing company and although it looked at one time as if the big factory would be wiped out the loss was but $1000.

The Jefferson and Fort Atkinson engines were both small ones and Janesville firemen said that if the "old plunger" as the Water Witch is called, had been turned loose she could have thrown more water than both of them put together.

CHOLERA KILLED 400 ROCK COUNTY HOGS

PLAGUE SPREADING IN THE TIFFANY NEIGHBORHOOD.

Several Herds Wiped Out in the Last Few Weeks—Dead Animals Cast Into the Creek—Farmer Makes $700 Off His Cows—Big Butter Trade.

Tiffany, Aug. 23.—The hog cholera has literally wiped out several herds in this section, and is spreading. Some four or five hundred hogs have been buried within a few weeks. Dead animals are being thrown in the creek, and last week a dead hog, doubtless a case of cholera, was thrown into the water near Herbert Scott's. It is an offense, punishable by a fine of from ten to one hundred dollars, to cast any dead matter into a running stream; and if parties are found committing such an offense in the town of La Prairie, they will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law.

Russian Thistles Being Found

Russian thistles are being found along the track at this station. Eight plants were found in one place, and they are found all along the track. From their appearance they will be a terrible pest if they obtain a foothold.

Made $1,700 Off His Cows.

"I can't tell just how many pounds of butter my cows made, but I know I made over $1,700 in cash out of them" was the reply a La Prairie farmer made to the census taker, in answer to his questions as to the amount and value of his dairy products. This farmer brings the milk of from twenty to forty cows to the Tiffany creamery.

The creamery paid eighty-three cents a hundred for milk last week, and is turning out about five hundred pounds a day of "fancy creamery" which goes to New York, New Orleans and other points to supply a special demand for a gilt-edged article, such as the Tiffany creamery produces.

Persons From Tiffany.

D. Q. Starks is agent for the Russell gate and has a sample at the creamery. Walter Shultz arrived here on Wednesday for a short visit. Fred Day is in the field with a steam thrasher. There is a good opening at the station for an all round blacksmith. A good reliable man can build up a good business here. Corn is being injured by drouth.

Some grain is coming in at low prices. Threshing is about finished on Rock Prairie. Threshers find quite a large range in yield and quality of grain. The self feeders are on all machines.

William A. Montgomery Died.

William A. Montgomery died at his home in Chicago, on the 21st inst. He was a graduate of Beloit college in '59, a lieutenant in the 15th Wisconsin regiment, and was promoted to a captaincy shortly after he entered the service. The members of that regiment now living will bear with regret of the death of their old comrade, whose qualities as a man and a soldier made warm friends of all who came in contact with him. Since the war he has been engaged in the practice of law in Chicago, where he had a large practice. He had many friends in this county who will deeply regret his death.

YOUNG LADIES' TROUBLE.

FACTS MADE KNOWN TO FRIENDS

Lady Stenographers, Typewriters, and all Working Girls Interested.

[SPECIAL TO OUR LADY READERS]

This class of women are more or less afflicted with illness brought on by constant application in one position. Therefore all will be interested in the candid expression of this bright young lady of Denver, Col., who writes Mrs. Pinkham as follows:—

"This is the first opportunity I have found to write and thank you for the good your Compound has done me. I feel better than I have for years. It seems a seven days' wonder to my friends. Where I used to be pitted, everything is the opposite, and there is not a day but what some one wants to know what I have done to work such a wonder."

"Before taking the Compound I had constant headaches; was constipated; bloated; eyes weak, with watery whites; bearing down pains; pains in the small of my back and right side; took cold very easily, which always caused intense pain in ovaries. I did not want to go anywhere or see any one."

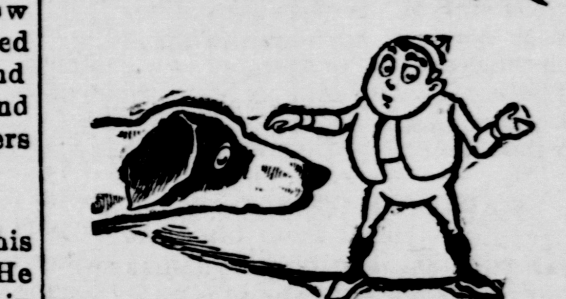

"I was called cross, but I could not help it, feeling as I did. I could not lift anything or do any hard work without suffering for days afterward. Menstruation lasted from eight to ten days, the first two or three days being in almost constant pain, day and night."

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has made a new girl of me; am now well, happy, and strong." Yours truly, A. STENOGRAPHER, Denver, Col.

FASHIONABLE BODICES.

White the Casing Color For Fall Evening Wear.

Some of the comparatively short woolen skirts for country wear have a wide band of white cloth at the bottom, in which case the jacket is faced with the same material. Box plaited blouses are also worn with these skirts, confined by a white leathern belt and furnished with a big sailor collar and high gauntlet cuffs of white cloth.

Fashionable tailors are using grass cloth for vests and lapels with serge coats. The lapels, generally square in front and sailor shape behind, rest upon serge ones beneath, a half inch of the latter projecting to form a border.

Blouses still occupy much attention. An item to be noted in the newest bodices is the method of finishing them at the waist. The wide satin belt no longer prevails to the exclusion of other styles. The material composing the bodice is now stitched or finished with a flat piping, while evening corsages are again pointed in front and worn outside the skirt.

All sorts of white silk will be greatly worn for dinners and other smart gatherings, besides medium shades of blue and a great deal of black. Black promises to be extremely fashionable, especially in faille, moire antique and satin.

Black and white is still exceedingly fashionable for smart gowns, some of the daintiest black grenadines and muslins being made up on white silk and satin foundations.

Pure white gowns of crepon and silk, mixed with lace, are to be worn and white pique as late as possible in the fall, white pique jackets particularly. White revers of silk or plain cloth or embroidered multiply equally with vests, chemisettes, guimpes, fichus and blouses of white. White kid belts are worn by women whose waist is slender enough to permit it, and white gloves are seen everywhere.

The ball costume shown in the illustration has a godet skirt in hortensia liberty satin, trimmed around the foot with a wide application of white guipure. This skirt has a demitrain. A short open jacket of satin like the skirt is lined with gold colored silk and adorned with large epaulets and coquilles of guipure over hortensia silk. A draped decollete chemisette of satin is confined by a gold colored belt, while the sleeves are of glace hortensia and gold silk. Yellow and hortensia hollyhocks are placed above the epaulet on each shoulder.

PARISIAN FANCIES.

Bright Tints the Only Fashionable Ones. Yokes and Collars.

Somber tints are entirely abandoned this summer in Paris, only bright colors being admitted as fashionable. Rose, light gray, sulphur, white, especially the latter, in all tones, are the favored shades, with all of which are worn collars, yokes and cuffs of brownish guipure. Turned back cuffs and 1890 collars, made of fine linen and stiffly starched, are also worn with morning costume. They are also made of batiste and hemstitched.

Jackets remain perennially in favor for city walking costumes. They are made of nastic or fawn cloth, or even shades of dark green and dahlia, but the first two tints are preferred. These jackets are of two styles, one being fitted to the figure by means of darts, while the other falls straight in front. The basque is short and much rippled, and the seams are covered with stitched straps of the cloth.

Parisienne sustain their ample skirts by means of a petticoat fortified with aluminum. What is the difference between that and the hoopskirt?

Silk petticoats are exceedingly wide around the foot, and in place of crinoline or stiff corduroys they have innumerable ruffles of silk and mousseline de soie superimposed, adorned with knots of ribbon. The color of the petticoat harmonizes with that of the costume. For morning black satin, with plaited and pinked ruffles of black faille, is liked.

The most fashionable wedding gowns are made with a godet skirt having a long round train in white satin. The corsage is simple and slightly filled in front, with a piquet of orange flowers at the throat and waist. The sleeves are of medium size and white satin shoes are worn. Little jewelry is liked for a bride.

An illustration is given of a costume of white pique with wide ribs. The godet skirt is untrimmed and is lined with mauve. The blouse bodice, of mauve taffeta has a large plait in front framed by double revers of white faille with silver buttons. The collar and belt are of mauve taffeta and the gigot sleeves of white pique.

FASHIONABLE SKIRTS.

How to Cut Skirt Linings—To Avoid Puckered Seams.

In order that a skirt may fit well, the lining must be cut exactly like the outside, whether the breadths be wide or narrow, many or few. If the lining material is not wide enough, it may be neatly pieced. When the dress goods are very thin, and especially for silk and satin, a narrow strip of paper should be basted in with the seams to prevent them from fulling when they are stitched. After the stitching the paper must be removed. For woolen material, if it is decidedly bias at the seams, a straight strip of muslin should be used instead of paper and allowed to remain, being pressed flat when the seam is ironed. The iron used should not be too hot, nor should it be employed too frequently at the same spot, as that detracts from the freshness of the material.

Now that skirts are so large they are not lined throughout with haircloth, as that would render them insupportably heavy. A facing of haircloth from 12 to 18 inches deep is placed around the foot, fitted smoothly to the curve of the skirt and with the hair kept parallel to the edge. The lining is of silk preferably, but as that is a great additional expense alpaca is much used instead and forms an excellent substitute. It is light and wiry and holds the material in good folds. The seams may be bound with bias strips of silk or cambric, or thin silk seam binding may be used. All skirts having bias breadths should be hung on a skirt form before the facing is put on, as the bias portions always sag after the skirt is finished at the waist and held perpendicularly. The mistake of finishing the foot of such a skirt according to the measurement as it lies flat on the table involves taking the facing entirely off again as soon as the skirt is tried on.

The sketch shows a girl's dress of gray china silk with pink dots, having a full skirt. The shirred waist is of plain gray silk, the guipure of guipure over pink silk. The balloon elbow sleeves of dotted silk have epaulets of plain silk, with pink fringed ruchings of silk. The collar, bretelles and choux are of pink silk.

VARIOUS ITEMS.

Light Colored Clothing For Men as Well as Women.

Light colored clothing is much in vogue for men this season. Fine gray checks and white flannels are much seen at seaside and country resorts, accompanied by sailor hats of coarse straw and white necksacs. Dark beige cloth is patronized by bicyclists.

Bluet shades have retired somewhat from general wear in favor of white, which has had a great vogue in Paris since the Grand Prix. Linen, batiste and muslin, plain, flowered or dotted and trimmed with lace, have become overpowering in number. The blouse retains a fashionable place, but plain bodices are beginning to be seen, covered with lace or embroidery. This indication suggests changes during the autumn.

JACKET.

turn and winter. Marie Antoinette fichus in lace or liberty muslin are the favorite summer wrap and may be like the gown or different from it. These are tied at the breast with long ends or fastened at the waist.

White shoes with black silk stockings are a Parisian fancy.

Stitching is a fashionable finish for many gowns and not only completes skirt, bodice and jacket, but is given every opportunity to display itself on straps and bands which are employed as trimming. These are enriched with cut or carved buttons, often set with stones. Buttons are and promise still to be a prominent feature of fashionable gowns.

Wealthy women have small capes by the dozen to go with all sorts of gowns. They are dark and light, elaborate and simple, rich and inexpensive, coquettish or somber, to suit every occasion that may arise.

An illustration is given of a walking jacket of bluet cloth. It is fitted to the figure and has a short, rippled basque. A wide collar and revers of ivory cloth, fastened together by stud buttons, open over a pale blue batiste shirt waist. The gigot sleeves are plain. A cravat of bluet silk is worn. The hat accompanying the jacket is of straw adorned with roses and bluet ribbon, with two black plumes at the back.

A Transparent Cement For Mending Glass.

It is often desirable to mend a handsome piece of glassware that has been slightly broken, but the majority of the good cements used for repairing valuable articles are not transparent enough for the glass. An excellent cement for this purpose may be made by dissolving in a pipkin over the fire—taking especial care that it does not boil over—half an ounce of isinglass in a wineglassful of spirits of wine. This will make a very durable and transparent glue.

A Southern Writer.

JAMES LANE ALLEN.

James Lane Allen, one of the best known story writers of the south, was born early in the '50s, near Lexington, Ky., and is descended on his father's side from Colonel William Payne, an officer of the Revolution, and on his mother's side from Pennsylvania Scotch-Irish stock. He was educated at Kentucky university, Lexington. His best known stories are "The White Cow" and "Sister Dolorosa."

A Forgotten Astor.

The world in general knows the direct line of the noted Astor family, and in New York city there is a vague tradition that "the other son of William B. Astor is off somewhere being well taken care of." In fact, he is the local great man of Astorville and Copake Flats, Columbia county, N. Y., and although eccentric, he certainly is not an imbecile.

HENRY ASTOR.

Many years ago he married Melvina Dinehart, a rustic beauty, and daughter of one of his father's tenants, and then his relatives "shook" him, as they say at Harvard. His grandfather, the original John Jacob Astor, however, had left him property, which in time made him very rich, and he has made all the Dineharts rich. He is sixty years old and a simple, kindly gentleman.

It Makes Us Shudder

To think of chills and fever. But when we really have it—supposing us to be so unfortunate—our frames undergo a series of shocks which bear a close analogy to those produced by an earthquake. Roasted next, we are drenched by perspiration afterward. Truly a delectable condition of things. But how easy to remedy and how speedy! The certain means of relief is Hosieter's Stomach Bitters. Tested as well where malaria is prevalent in its most virulent forms, as where it takes on a milder guise, it has proved itself to possess both a remedial and preventive efficacy of the highest order. In South America, Guatemala, Mexico and the Isthmus of Panama no less than throughout the North American continent, its success as a means of forestalling and relieving malarial disease has been unparalleled. It cures the Bitters for dyspepsia, constipation, bilious and kidney trouble, nervousness and debility.

Mr. A. A. Snyder, superintendent of the poor farm, Weuneshok Co., Ia. says: "Last winter Mr. Robert Leach used two boxes of De Witt's Colic & Cholera Cure. Had been under care of physicians for months without obtaining relief. C. D. Stevens.

EXPLAINED.

CONFIDENCE IN THEIR PRODUCT LED THE SHAKERS TO MAKE AN UNUSUAL OFFER.

People of this day and generation are not disposed to give things away. When therefore the Mount Lebanon Shakers recently stated that any one could get a bottle of Digestive Cordial by calling in person at their New York office, it excited a great deal of talk.

One of the leading dailies of the Metropolis sent a reporter to find out what was meant. It developed that the preparation in question has proven beneficial in so large a majority of cases that nine-tenths of the people who are sufficiently anxious to call for a sample, find so much relief that they continue the product's use and tell their friends about it. As a result a very large demand has been created.

The Shakers have a long record of success as inventors and their various medicinal products have always enjoyed a high reputation. The Digestive Cordial is not only nourishing in itself but it digests other foods when taken as directed.

Sleepless nights, spots before the eyes and a sense of heaviness after eating, loss of weight and general weakness are among the common symptoms of indigestion which it promptly relieves, and it is gratifying to know that such a positive and harmless remedy as the Digestive Cordial should have at last been devised.

The common idea about consumption is that it is a lung trouble, but this is not all. Why is it that the consumptive gets thinner and thinner until he has wasted to a skeleton? Because the food he eats does not nourish him. It has not digested.

The first sign of the appearance of consumption is growing thin, wasting; this is before the cough; before the expectoration. Stop the wasting and recovery will follow in the incipient stages, and the disease will be retarded in advanced cases.

Rodman, her husband, of Milton Junction, Rock county, Wisconsin, as mortgagees, have made their certain mortgage to The Wisconsin Trust Company of Milwaukee, a corporation organized, created and existing under the laws of Wisconsin, as mortgagee, to secure the payment of the sum of four thousand dollars and interest thereon, and said mortgagee has assigned said mortgage by an instrument in writing, duly executed, acknowledged and delivered to Frederick N. DIAZ FOR PRESIDENT.

Mexico will put Diaz in the presidential chair for another term. He is by all odds the greatest statesman the country has produced. When he assumed power in Mexico, the country had a comparatively low order of civilization. Repeated revolutions, local vendettas and factional conflicts had diverted the people from ordinary pursuits and opportunities of improvement, and demoralized the sources of good citizenship. His success is shown by the fact that he has been able not only to repress violence and establish public order, but also to introduce a new form of thinking and to substitute modern and enlightened policies for old follies and prejudices. He is not governing a race of cold-headed Anglo-Saxons and has had to resort to drastic and imperative processes but his influence has always been for advancement. He has encouraged the construction of railroads, the development of manufactures and the adoption of the latest expedients in business and industry, often in opposition to prevailing sentiment. Mexico needed a strong man to take her out of the ruts of the past, and start her on the right career, and Diaz has proved to be entirely equal to the emergency.

CLEVELAND LUCK.

Little third term talk would be heard if democrats had any man but Cleveland fit for presidential timber. Cleveland is not and never has been a favorite with the democratic masses; but they realize that he is the only man who has been able to lead them to victory. He is not popular, but is invested with a sort of superstition that answers the same purpose. It is safe to say that thousands of democrats who dislike Cleveland, the man, would be glad to see Cleveland, the fetish, nominated again because they believe in his luck.

What a big job the democrats will have if they adopt Senator Butler's programme. Among other things Butler wants the tax on state bank circulation repealed and silver admitted to free coinage at the 16 to one ratio. In 1892 the party was foolish enough to declare for the former, but it will not make that mistake again.

It was suspected long ago that the genial young leader of Rock county democracy had not forsworn tase ball solely on account of his health this season. When Frank Morris takes off his canvas shoes and puts on slippers with felt soles, it pays to watch out.

Don't worry about a conspiracy against Reed in New England. Reed gets fat smashing conspiracies and some of those New England plotters will think a cyclone has been that way when they take amount of stock next fall.

Brice got plenty of administration help in Ohio. Wherever Cleveland stands on other questions the representatives of "corporate monsters," as democratic orators call them, are sure of his support.

All those Wisconsin democrats who declare for "a good western man," are casting about for such a personage. But western democrats of presidential stature are mighty scarce, perhaps you have noticed.

There seems to be no good ground for the rumor that the land of Frank R. Morris of Milton or Milton Junction—we forget which—has lost its cunning.

Even the enemies of Ingalls would be glad to see him in the senate. It would mean a cessation of the crazy politics that came with Pepper.

Why should anybody stay home when tickets to Boston and return sell for $10?

A Pan-Republican Advocate.

WILLIAM H. ARNOUX.

Judge William H. Arnoux, of New York, took a very active part in the late conference in New York to favor a union of friends of republican government throughout the world. About half the states were represented, and a call was issued for an international conference in 1893. Judge Arnoux maintains that the time has come for the friends of freedom to act together.

The First Lady of Illinois.

Mrs. John P. Altgeld, who will be the lady of the governor's mansion of Illinois during the coming term, is a lady of much culture and some artistic ability. She was born at Mansfield, O., and received her higher education at Oberlin. It is scarcely necessary, therefore, to add that she has "advanced views" on the sphere of woman and many other things. Fifteen years ago she married the gentleman who is now governor elect of Illinois, and for fourteen years they have lived in Chicago.

Atrocious Murder in Arkansas.

Hot Springs, Ark., Aug. 23.—The body of a prominent doctor, J. H. Brooks, was found partially eaten by hogs and riddled with buckshot. About one month ago a prominent farmer named Redwine was foully assassinated while at work in his field. Dr. Brooks it is said, denounced the murder as a blot upon the community and asserted that its perpetrator must be run down. He declared that he would see that the next grand jury thoroughly investigated it. It is supposed that he was assassinated to prevent him doing this.

This Will Discourage Elopements.

Nashville, Tenn., Aug. 23.—The 16-year-old daughter of a prominent farmer named Haliburton, living in Montgomery county, went to prayer-meeting, where she met a young man named Hite, whose attentions her parents had forbidden. The couple ran away and were married and afterward the first father pursued the bridegroom and killed him.

Crazy Over Religion.

Pine Bluff, Ark., Aug. 23.—Jesse Isborg, colored, who became crazed by religion at a revival meeting last evening, and kept up his prayers all night, this morning shot his landlady, Mandy Walker, four times at the breakfast table, fatally wounding her, then blew his own brains out.

PALMYRAS AND MILTONS MEET.

Rain Storm Results From the Intensity of Their Feelings.

Back at home they call them The Bainmakers, these Palmyra base ball experts. How well they justify the name is shown by the storm that began half an hour after they struck town. Their coming did Rock county several thousand dollars worth of good.

They didn't come especially to induce showers, however. They were after some young men who live in the shadow of Milton college. The Milton boys play a sort of ball that makes the man on the front bench swallow his cigar in ecstasy. They beat the Palmyras 15 to 10, July 29. Then the Palmyra athletes regained their laurels by getting 17 runs to Milton's 16, August 8. Half of Palmyra and all of Milton came in to see the tie played off. This is the way the teams lined up:

Palmyras	Positions	Miltons
W. Wooster	Catch	Alken

A NEW DYSPEPSIA CURE.

Over 6,000 People in State of Michigan Cured in 1894 by this New Preparation.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, the new discovery for stomach troubles, is claimed to have cured over 6,000 people in the state of Michigan alone in 1894. These tablets have become so popular with physicians and people who have any form of indigestion that they have the endorsement of such physicians as Dr. Harlandson and Dr. Jernison as being the safest, most reliable remedy for sour stomach, chronic dyspepsia, gas, bloating, palpitation, headache, constipation, and in all cases where the appetite is poor or the food imperfectly digested.

It is safe to say that Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will cure any kind of stomach trouble except cancer of the stomach. They are not a secret patent medicine but composed of vegetable and fruit essences, pure pepsin, Golden Seal, ginger and the digestive acids. They are pleasant to take, can be carried in the pocket, and they cure because they digest the food promptly before it has time to ferment and poison the blood.

Druggists everywhere sell Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, full sized packages, at 50 Cents. A book on Stomach diseases and thousands of testimonials sent free by addressing The Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich.

CAMP 20 WIPED OUT AT DEAD OF NIGHT

UP-RIVER RESORT RAIDED IN DARKNESS.

Inmates Were Bundled Into a Carryall and Brought to Town—Three Pleaded Guilty and Were Assessed $25 Each—Many Names on the List.

The jail is full of mourning doves—soiled ones, and their mates. Sheriff Appleby and Officer Hogan netted them by a midnight raid up the river.

For some time back a crowd of Janesville people have been in camp near the four mile bridge on the west side of the river. They were not people that Janesville is proud of, but they were withal, Janesville people and they drank Janesville beer. They raised riots in and about the sylvan groves and made the night hideous with gibes, jests and conviviality. Teams were tied in the woods from all around the country and times were gay in Camp 20 for the campers were fair and jocular not to a peak of their being "jagous." For them the sun never set and as for sleep they never thought of it, at least, not as long as there was anything in sight.

Before long people began to complain. They tired of the rowdiness and beer guzzling and told their sorrows to the policeman.

Some Shooting Was Done.

More orgies were not the only occurrences. Farmers say that one of the inmates of the camp named Williams, whose wife was one of the merry makers, came to Janesville the other day and bought an immense cargo of fighting whisky. Then he went back to camp. What he saw excited his jealousy, and he rowed up in front of the camp and began to shoot. Bullets whizzed around until one of the girls waded out up to her waist, grabbed the pistol from Williams' hand and threw it into the river.

Thing have been getting worse steadily, and last night it was decided to make a raid. Sheriff Appleby accordingly hired a carryall and a wagonette and he and Officer Hogan started for the camp. They surprised the outfit and soon had a big load of men, women and six fresh kegs of beer. Tears and threats were of no avail and the procession moved toward town. All the revelers were not found at Camp 20, a large party being captured in the vicinity of the Leyden House. With both buses bulging full, the officers drove to the city. They left town at 8 o'clock and when they returned with their game, the clocks were registering midnight.

Sang on Their Way To Cells.

But few people were up to see the novel procession come down Milwaukee street. The "gang" became defiant and even jubilant when they found that they were really going to jail in spite of all and the chorus of the camp song, "When the Tide Comes In," swelled into a roar that the police couldn't check. At the jail they were all unloaded and locked up to await the call on them to appear in court this afternoon.

Tessie Jones, fair, fat and forty.

Flossie Campbell, small, plump and stylish.

Nellie Sanpear, alias "Seven Spot", thin and sallow.

These three pleaded guilty and were fined $25 apiece.

The officers have the names of fifty two other persons who will probably be called on later.

BLOODY CLOTHES LAY IN A GRAVE

Another Strange Find Mystifies the Residents of Magnolia Township.

Rock county has another mystery. From a newly-made grave on the Bump farm, in the town of Magnolia, a suit of blood-stained clothing was taken yesterday.

It was some days ago that the grave was found. Nobody knew anything about it, and finally it was decided to investigate.

Digging brought to light a complete outfit of men's clothing. The clothing was well spattered with blood, and continuing their work men found a hatchet and a letter. The latter was written in a rambling strain. It stated that "if clothing was bloody, to bury them," and "that the doctor would be ready to receive the body at 1 a. m." Warren Andrew, who resides near the scene, was in town today and told the story to the authorities.

They never came back.

As a matter of fact a horse slaughter house is in operation far back in the woods, and decrepit steeds are being sought all around the country. A busy slaughter house it is, but the family who think they have had very tough steak for the last few weeks needn't be worried. The horses are not killed for their meat. Nobody thinks of supplying Janesville tables with roast beef after the Paris method.

Robert Baum runs the business. Most of his stock is given to him. Sometimes he pays a dollar a head but not often. The only thing he insists on is that the horse shall be able to walk to Kennedy's farm. It is nip and tuck, sometimes, whether this condition will be fulfilled.

Made Worthless By Abuse

Most of the horses offered, so far, have been worthless, not on account of their age, but because of abuse. They have had bad legs or bad wind and don't seem able to go four blocks faster than a walk. Some of them have been left here by the gypsies who squirmed them full of stimulants and traded them off to susceptible Janesville folks as "good steady drivers."

As said before, the killing is done far back in the woods, out of the way of everybody. A double barreled gun loaded with buckshot is the weapon, and is used at short range. It has proved more certain and less dangerous than a rifle.

Soap grease and hides.

These are the products. The hides are shipped to Milwaukee, and command a good price, while the carcasses are turned over to soap factories on contract.

Officers of the local humane society think that Baum should be encouraged. He saves many old horses from being turned out to starve, and ends their suffering in the quickest and easiest way.

COMPANY A WERE WELL PAID

Captain Glass Gives Each Member $9.10 for a Week's Service.

Light Infantry boys are pleased with the fact that their pay amounts to more this year than ever before. It is $9.10 apiece. Captain Glass says the big balance is due to the careful buying of supplies by Quartermaster Sergeant Henry Baldwin, and the economy of the cook, George Holland, of Oshkosh, who is a professional.

Jacob Fisher drove to town this morning and stopped his horse in front of G. C. Fritz' restaurant on South Franklin street. Mr. Fritz objected to the horse being there, and making a vigorous protest, called Officer Smith. At last accounts the horse still held the fort.

To the Public.

In this exceptionally dry time when danger from fire is very great, and the fire protection of the most importance to the city, the water company desires to repeat the request made by the chief engineer, that all hose in use when the alarm of fire is sounded, to be at once shut off. The large number of sprinkling hose in use in the evening would greatly tend to reduce pressure during a fire, and the company requests this assistance from water takers, for the benefit of property owners. STYLES AND COLORS.

White and Pale Gray Favorite Colors. Passementerie Trimmings.

The fondness for white continues to be manifested everywhere. This is not a difficult taste to indulge while warm weather is here and wash goods prevail, but for autumn and winter it is more expensive, as white must be always immaculate, and white cloth, crepon and silk need to be often renewed for ordinary wear. Gray and white is a fashionable combination. Tailor gowns of dust gray or beige, with a skirt and open jacket, the latter lined with white satin and having white revers, are much liked. Alpaca is most frequently combined with white, gray alpaca being preferred to any other, although other colors are worn. Black alpaca is also fashionable and is trimmed with steel, ivory, pearl, bone or horn buttons, enameled or spangled, and even buttons of paste and rhinestone. These black costumes are additionally enlivened by white linen collars, and cuffs of white linen may be confidently expected to come to the front very soon.

Both skirt and bodice are to be enriched with passementerie during the fall, but it is said that when the winter season arrives the blouse will have retired from favor, and passementerie will be confined to close fitting bodices. Soutache and embroidery in relief on bands of white or colored cloth will also be employed in this way. Any decided change in bodices implies a corresponding change in skirts, but what this will be is not yet evident. Probably skirts will decrease in size before long, but as yet they retain their stiffness and amplitude. It will be a relief when they do diminish, for their weight is oppressive and the hair-cloth necessary to hold them in shape is unmanageable and clumsy. If the fashion of drapery does not come in as they grow narrower, it will be something to be thankful for.

An illustration is given of an evening gown of accordion plaited white silk, guaze over white taffeta. The skirt is ornamented with garlands of magnolia green flowers held in place by knots of satin of the same color. The blouse bodice has a round décolletage falling off the shoulders and edged with green flowers. Bretelles of green satin are tied in erect bows on the shoulders. The 1840 sleeves and the soft belt are of green satin, the latter being adorned with coques where it joins the bretelles. JUDIC CHOLLET.

WALKING COSTUMES.

English Homespun, Tartan Plaids, Gray Mohair and Golf Capes.

Paris is going in for English goods to a large extent, tweed, homespun, alpaca, tartan and liberty fabrics being much worn there at present. This, of course, renders them popular everywhere, as Paris is the authority on fashions and what obtains there is in demand all over the fashionable world. French mohair and cheviot, with plain cloth and a close sort of delaine, either plain or checked and striped, are also liked. Gray mohair trimmed with white or black is extremely fashionable, the finer kinds being adorned with black and silver passementerie or oxidized silver buttons. Black satin often forms the adornment, in the shape of pipings, lining, revers and belt.

Alpaca increases continually in popularity, especially for traveling gowns. Useful traveling costumes are also made of deep colored tweed, with a tight fitting jacket showing a silk blouse of the same color, or in brown cheviot striped with narrow lines of pink or blue.

Plaids will be more or less worn during the coming season, usually with trimmings of velvet, a favorite way of introducing the latter material being in the form of triangular pieces at each of the side seams of the skirt. Golf caps made of reversible tartan shawls sell extremely well, the latest models shown having raw edges, the facings being fastened down by large bone buttons.

A great many of the newest walking costumes are cut much shorter in the skirt, and it is said that this is indicative of a decided change in respect of the length of skirts generally. These short skirts are made of even measurement all the way around. One and one-half inches from the ground is the present altitude.

A neat alpaca costume is shown in the sketch. It is of a pearl gray tint and has a godet skirt, with tailor stitching near the foot. The jacket bodice is close and has a apple basque. The collar and revers are finished with stitching, and the jacket opens over a shirt of pink percale. A white collar and pink cravat are worn. The gigot sleeves have stitched cuffs. JUDIC CHOLLET.

The ever-increasing popularity of CLIMAX PLUG can only be attributed to its high quality, delicious flavor, and satisfying substance—three features which all judges of Chewing Tobacco know to be essential.

Many men ask for a certain brand of tobacco through force of habit, without stopping to think whether there is anything better to be had for the same price. If you want the best, ask for CLIMAX PLUG.

"Mercy on us!" cried the investor. "Do you have earthquakes here?"

Professional Amenities.

"No; that wasn't Maria."—Judge.

That Test Was Satisfactory.
"Do you think, sir," said the girl's mother, "that you have patience and forbearance to be a kind-hearted husband?"

SOME WELL KNOWN FACES

THEODORE RUNYON.

The New Minister to Germany.
Theodore Runyon, minister to Germany, is a scion of an old and honorable French Huguenot family which located in New Jersey. He was born in New Jersey in 1822, was graduated from Yale college, was admitted to the bar in 1846, took an active part in raising troops for the war and was brevetted a brigadier by President Lincoln. He was in command of 13 regiments at the first battle of Bull Run, and the defeat of the Federal forces annoyed him greatly. He returned to Newark on the expiration of his term of service and was elected mayor of that city. In 1865 he was a candidate for governor, but was defeated by Governor Ward. In 1873 he was appointed a commissioner to prepare an amendment to the state constitution and later in the same year was appointed chancellor. He has had the honorary degree of LL. D. conferred upon him no less than three times.

A Man of Millions.

Mr. John D. Rockefeller is named by experts as the richest man in America, and but thirty years ago he was running a modest produce store in Cleveland. In 1865 he was operating in oil with Samuel Andrews and Henry M. Flagler, and the genius of these three organized the Standard Oil company. The world knows its history. He and his scarcely less famous brother, William, were born in Cleveland. John is now in the early fifties and well preserved, living in a plain and substantial way on West Fifth-fourth street, New York. Estimates of his wealth range all the way from $160,000,000 to $240,000,000.

A Noted Linguist.

Professor F. L. O. Roehrig, recently professor of Sanscrit and the living oriental languages in Cornell, is, since the death of Mezzofanti, probably the greatest linguist in the world. He reads thirty languages and speaks a large number, and despite the fact that he is seventy-two years old, there is a probability that he will accept a chair in the Palo Alto university, California. He was born at Halle, graduated from the University of Leipzig and after long service in Europe emigrated to the United States in 1853. He mastered many American Indian tongues, prepared a thorough grammar of the Turkish and wrote several works on the German. At the same time his works on the Irish language were so thorough that they were indorsed and issued by the New York Gaelic society.

Minister Risley.
John E. Risley, the new minister to Denmark, is a native of Knox county, Ind., a brother-in-law and former law partner of Senator D. W. Voorhees, but since the war a resident of New York city and vicinity, and is 50 years old. For two years after leaving Terre Haute, where he practiced law, he was deputy commissioner of internal revenue, the only public position he ever held. In Washington his law practice was largely before the court of Alabama claims, and he is reported to have had more cases before that court than any other lawyer. Soon after the war he went to New York city, where he achieved great success.

Chief Justice of the Land Court.
The last congress provided by law for a new court to try all cases of disputed land and titles in the territories and newer states as far as federal courts have jurisdiction, and President Harrison has appointed the Hon. Joseph R. Read, of Iowa, the chief justice of said court. Judge Read was born March 12, 1835, in Ashland, O., and settled in Iowa as a lawyer in 1857, served four years in the Union army, and has held various offices in the state and served in the fifty-first congress as a Republican.

The directors of the Savings, Loan and Building Association will hold their monthly meeting at the office of Elias Hayner, Friday evening August 3.
